Dollars In, Dollars Out

At present level funding, Ulster County provides 21% of Cornell Cooperative Extension's (CCEUC) budget, including office space.

For each $1 from Ulster County, CCEUC leverages $4 from other sources. This means an additional $1.8 million dollars flowing into Ulster County because of present county funding for CCEUC.

Every $1 coming in to CCEUC is spent in and on Ulster County; this meant $2,214,078* flowing into Ulster County programs and services in 2008 (most recent audited year).

Every $1 cut from CCEUC county funding will decrease at least $4 of investment in Ulster County.

**Does not include the economic activity multiplier effect: $1.7 million additional dollars has indirectly been generated for Ulster County because of agency and staff spending (Cornell University Economic Impact Study 2007).*
