Presentation Focusing on the Impacts and Controversies of Climate Change
Comes to Kingston

Cornell Cooperative Extension of Ulster County hosts their Annual Meeting on Thursday, November 29 at the Central Hudson conference room at Box 120, Rt. 28 in Kingston at 7:00pm.

The evening's agenda begins with an election of new CCEUC board and program committee members, treasurer's report, a review of CCEUCs programs of 2007 and CCEUC staff and current board and program committee member recognition followed by fall desserts, coffee, cider and tea. The evening closes with a presentation by Sylvester Johnson. The meeting and presentation are open to the general public.

Sylvester Johnson, Ph.D. Applied Physics presents in association with the Museum of the Earth of Cornell University Climate Change Impacts on Agriculture, and Controversies in Key Public Policies for Reducing Emissions. This presentation is distinguished by the emphasis on action steps for reducing emissions of heat trapping gasses, how to implement improved energy policies rather than half measures, and compelling graphics and description of the negative impacts on farming of continued warming.
