Extend the Life of Your Garden this Fall. FREE Workshop Can Help

This FREE workshop will teach you how to extend the beauty of your garden and also tell you what to remove and what plants to add so that you can enjoy your garden throughout the fall season.

On Saturday, September 18, join Cornell Cooperative Extension of Ulster County's Master Gardeners for this FREE workshop beginning at 9:00am. The workshop will take place at the Xeriscape demonstration garden on the SUNY Ulster campus located at 491 Cottekill Road, in Stone Ridge. Learn how to improve your gardening skills in a real garden classroom!

Master Gardeners will be on hand from 9:00am to 12:00pm working in the garden and available for general questions. A brief lecture and demonstration will take place at each workshop at 10:00am. No pre-registration is needed and all sessions are FREE. All workshops will take place rain or shine.

This workshop is part of the "Learning in the Garden" workshop series, a hands-on approach on location that explain the principles of gardening and take place on the third Saturday of each month, from April through October, at the Xeriscape Garden at Ulster County Community College located in Stone Ridge.

Upcoming 2010 Learning in the Garden Workshop Series Schedule:

October 16: Putting your Garden to Bed - What to prune and pull out now before the cold sets in.

The Xeriscape Garden is an interactive teaching tool in the selection of heat tolerant, water-wise plants, integrated pest management and alternative landscaping techniques.
